Hiroki Moritani, Managing Director of Sumitomo Mitsui Trust International Limited (SuMiTIL), said: "As an economy Japan is probably undergoing more structural change than other developed counterparts, principally because it is implementing overdue digital and IT reforms. This creates plenty of opportunities, especially for active managers like SuMi TRUST with a strong presence on the ground and deep reservoirs of local knowledge and experience. One of my principal roles as Managing Director of SuMiTIL will be to continue to work with our long-standing EMEA investors, many of whom I have worked closely with before in my previous roles in London and Tokyo, to ensure they can reap the benefits of this structural shift through various asset classes."

"My focus will also be on our ESG engagement activities. Now more than ever investors are (rightly) asking for ESG integration throughout the investment process as well as proactive engagement activity. I look forward to working with my colleagues in London as well as Tokyo and New York, to coordinate SuMi TRUST's ESG activity globally."
