

Market Review for February 2022

2nd March 2022

TOPIX ended slightly down on the previous month-end. The Japanese equity market declined on growing concerns over geopolitical risks around eastern Europe. The market was up at the start of the month, supported by strong US economic statistics and solid quarterly corporate earnings of Japanese companies. However, it was shaken by the news of Russia's attack on Ukraine in the latter half of the month.
